Williamsburg Parks and Recreation is very lucky to have the support of Victor Sorensen and Tim Jones.

Victor Sorenson earned his ACA (American Canoe Association) Coastal Kayak Instructor certification in February 2002, then earned an endorsement to teach "Traditional Skills" in 2003. Prior to moving to the peninsula, Victor worked in South Florida as a self-employed sea kayaking instructor teaching ACA classes ranging from "Intro" classes to "Surfing" and "Traditional Skills". In December 2004 he and his wife Tracy moved to the peninsula from Florida and now look forward to exploring new kayaking destinations in VA while sharing what they've learned through ACA instructional programs. Victor currently is the manager of the Appomattox River Company Store located in the Village Shops at Kiln Creek in Yorktown.

Tim Jones has been teaching paddle sports classes since the early 1990's. He has taught whitewater and flat water canoeing, whitewater kayaking, and coastal kayaking. He is a juvenile parole officer for the Newport News Juvenile Court, and has led outdoor programs for the court, school system, and other youth agencies in caving, backpacking, whitewater rafting, rock climbing, canoeing and sea kayaking. Tim is also the President of the Mid-Atlantic Paddlers Association (MAPA). MAPA sponsors local canoe and kayak races, and participates in Hawaiian-style outrigger canoe racing, marathon canoe and kayak racing, whitewater racing, surf ski racing, etc. Tim's proudest racing achievement is finishing New York State's General Clinton 70-mile canoe marathon (twice). Tim and his wife April live in Smithfield.
